American Culinary Federation Senior Living Challenge 2027 Regional Qualifier Application

Updated: August 14, 2026

Eligibility:

- Candidate should have extremely high standards, possess a high degree of culinary skill, and be known for the cooking of American regional cuisine.
- Hold the equivalent of a sous chef position or higher in a senior living dining operation
- Have a minimum of three (3) years full-time employment in the culinary industry.
- The Candidate's region will be determined at the time of their application. If selected to compete, candidates must compete within their designated region, even if they relocate during the competition season for work or other reasons.
- Have not applied for any other qualifier or national award within ACF.

NOTE: Past national competitors may reapply at any time. Past National winners cannot reapply.

Please submit all required materials:

- A completed application
- A current professional resume
- High-resolution, digital, color photographs of competition work
- High-resolution, digital, color photograph of candidate in a white chef coat

Selection Process:

- Regional winners are chosen by competing at the qualifier that is scheduled for their specific region. Your specific region is determined by your home address and the region in which it falls on the ACF regions map (Welcome to ACF - How to Register as a Member (acfchefs.org))
- The highest numerical score from each region will advance to the ACF National Competition.
- Applicants can only compete at their designated regional qualifier.
- The four (4) regional winners will move on to compete at the ACF National Convention. The addition of a military representative as the fifth (5) competitor will be decided at the military qualifier. The National Winner of the NACUFS competition will be the sixth (6) competitor.
- The national winner will be determined based on the highest cumulative scores at the ACF National Competition regardless of the medal outcome.
- A minimum score of 70.0 is required to advance from the qualifier to the national competition. Any score below 70.0 will require a review by the Culinary Competition Committee.
- All the regional winners will be acknowledged at the ACF National Convention.

Winner Notification:

- The regional winners will be announced at their respective qualifiers and will have ten (10) days to accept the invitation to compete at the ACF National Competitions. If any of the top four (4) decline the invitation, the next highest-scoring competitor will be offered an invitation to advance.

Attendance and Critique Requirements:

- Competitors are required to attend the judges and competitors meeting at both the ACF Regional Qualifier and ACF National Competitions in order to take part in the competition. This meeting usually takes place the day before the competitions begin. This meeting is vital because it is where any last-minute changes or kitchen issues are addressed. It is also where competitors pick their starting time and identify their corresponding stations within the kitchen.
- All the competitors in the qualifier competitions are required to attend the critiques with the judges to be eligible to advance to the ACF National Competition. This is an opportunity for the competitors to receive feedback to help improve and become more competitive should they advance to the national level.
- All national competitors will be required to attend the President's Gala to take part in the awards ceremony.
- If a competitor is unable to attend any of the required meetings or events, they must notify the Culinary Competition Chair as soon as possible. The Culinary Competition Chair will review the circumstances on a case-by-case basis and decide accordingly on how to proceed. All decisions in these matters are final.
